Did You Know ...

The top three most circulated fiction books at the New Berlin Library in 2023 were:

- The Four Winds by Kristin Hannah
- No Plan B by Lee Child
- The Hotel Nantucket by Elin Hilderbrand

Things Your Librarian Wants You to Know

Libraries are a magical place full of learning, imagination, and fun. But hey, we know things can get messy. Don't worry, we've just about seen it all! Below are some tips we want you to know to keep things running smoothly:

Please don't fix any damage to library items

We have specialized supplies and techniques to repair most item mishaps. Please do, however, let us know about any rips, spills, tears or other damage so that we may attend to the item promptly.

No need to be embarrassed about fines

If you happen to rack up a few fines, we understand. Life can get crazy! Fines have happened to most of us ... even library employees! The best action is to pay it as soon as possible (cash or check in person; credit online if over $5) and then forget it. We've all been there!

Be sure to check back here monthly for more tips and tricks on library life!

New Year’s Resolutions and the Library: The Perfect Pair

As we turn our calendars to 2024, nearly half of us use this time to craft a better future through New Year’s resolutions. Whether your goal is physical and mental wellness, travel or new hobbies, the NBPL has materials to help you start strong. In the spirit of the season, we have curated a list of books and other items to help guide you into a happy, healthy 2024.
